A Legacy of Music and Merriment

Losing the Field Field Party traces its roots back to 2010, emerging as a humble gathering of music enthusiasts in the quaint village of Withycombe Raleigh, Devon. Over the years, the festival has flourished, growing into a beloved tradition that draws thousands of attendees from far and wide.

The festival's name itself holds a playful nod to the unpredictable nature of the British weather. While the event takes place in the picturesque fields surrounding Withycombe Raleigh, attendees are always prepared for the possibility of mud and rain. Embrace the spirit of the festival and come equipped with your best wellies and waterproof gear!

An Extraordinary Music Lineup

Losing the Field Field Party is renowned for its eclectic and diverse musical lineup, showcasing a wide range of genres that cater to every taste. From indie and electronica to folk and funk, there's something for every music lover to discover.

Previous years have seen the likes of Metronomy, Caribou, Warpaint, and Floating Points grace the festival's stage. The 2023 lineup promises to be equally impressive, featuring a mix of established acts and emerging talents.

A Camping Experience to Remember

Camping is an integral part of the Losing the Field Field Party experience. The festival grounds transform into a vibrant and communal space, where attendees can pitch their tents, relax, and connect with fellow festival-goers.

The festival offers a range of camping options, from basic tent pitches to more luxurious glamping accommodations. Whether you prefer the simplicity of a traditional tent or the comfort of a pre-pitched yurt, there's a camping option to suit every budget and preference.

Essential Tips for Festival-Goers

To ensure you have the best possible experience at Losing the Field Field Party, keep the following tips in mind:

- Be prepared for the weather: The British weather is notoriously unpredictable, so come prepared for all conditions. Pack waterproof clothing, sturdy footwear, and plenty of layers.
- Bring essentials: Remember to pack all the essentials, including toiletries, a first-aid kit, and any medications you may need.
- Stay hydrated: It's easy to get dehydrated at a festival, especially in the summer heat. Bring a reusable water bottle and fill it up regularly.
- Fuel up: There will be a variety of food and drink vendors at the festival, but it's also a good idea to bring some of your own snacks and meals.
- Respect the environment: Leave no trace behind and dispose of your waste responsibly.
- Have fun: Most importantly, relax and enjoy the festival experience. Let the music move you, embrace the atmosphere, and make memories that will last a lifetime.
